BACK: The RACE Framework + 5 Prompt Templates

The RACE Framework

Letter	What It Means	Example
R — Role	Tell AI who to be	“You are a senior project manager”
A — Action	Tell AI what to do	“Write an email to my team”
C — Context	Give AI the details	“About moving the deadline due to client feedback”
E — Expectations	Tell AI the format	“Under 200 words, professional, 3 action items”

5 Ready-to-Use Prompt Templates

- 1. The Email Writer > You are a [your role] at a [your industry] company. Write a professional email to [who] about [topic]. Tone: [friendly/formal/direct]. Under [number] words. Include [action items/deadlines/next steps].
- 2. The Summarizer > I’m pasting a [report/email chain/document] below. Summarize in [number] bullet points. Highlight any action items or deadlines. Write it so a busy [executive/manager] gets the key points in 30 seconds. > [Paste document here]
- 3. The Response Drafter > Here’s an email I received. Draft a response that [accepts/declines/asks for more info]. Keep my tone [professional but warm/direct/friendly]. Under 150 words. > [Paste the email here]

4. The Meeting Prep > I have a meeting with [who] about [topic]. My goal: [what you want]. Prepare: (1) 5 talking points, (2) 3 tough questions they might ask with suggested responses, (3) A one-paragraph opening I can use.

5. The Task Automator > I do [task] every [day/week]. It takes me [time]. Walk me through how to do this faster with AI. Give me the exact steps and the exact prompt I'd use. Keep it simple — I'm not technical.

Remember: Use Handy.computer to dictate these prompts instead of typing them.

Simpler: Talk to AI like a colleague. Give it your role, your task, your details, and what you want back.
